

Importance of maintenance

It is absolutely essential to carry out proper maintenance on the motorcycle in order to ensure its safety, protect your investment, obtain maximum performance, prevent malfunctions and reduce pollution. The owner is responsible for maintenance. Make sure to inspect the motorcycle before each time you ride, and carry out the regular checks specified in the Maintenance schedule.

➔ P. 39

⚠ WARNING

If you do not provide proper maintenance for your motorcycle or do not correct a problem before riding, you could have an accident that could result in serious injuries or even death.

Always follow the inspection and maintenance recommendations and the schedules indicated in this owner's manual.

Maintenance safety

Always read all the maintenance instructions before beginning work and make sure that you have the proper tools and parts, as well as the necessary technical skills. It is impossible to warn about all the conceivable hazards that might arise when carrying out maintenance procedures. Only you can decide whether or not you should carry out a task. Follow these instructions when performing maintenance.

- Shut off the engine.
- Park the motorcycle on a firm, level surface, using the side stand or a maintenance stand that supports the vehicle.
- Allow the engine, silencer, brakes and other hot parts to cool before servicing your motorcycle; otherwise, you could suffer burns.
- Only start the engine when indicated and in a well-ventilated area.